About JAIPUR

Jaipur, popularly known as the Pink City, was founded in 1727 AD by one of the greatest rulers of the Kachhawaha clan, the astronomer king Sawai Jai Singh. The pink color was used at the time of making to create an impression of red sandstone buildings of Mughal cities - and repainted in 1876, during the visit of the Prince of Wales. The capital of Rajasthan, Jaipur has hot and scorching summers and cool winters, which are pleasanter. The mercury rises to as high as 45 °C in summers, when the minimum temperature is 25.8 °C. However, nights can be cold and temperature can be as low as 8.3 °C. Monsoons are not much of a problem in Jaipur, so one can visit the city from anytime between September to March. Dear Colleagues,

Greetings from Pinkcity

Indian academy of Neurosciences is providing a platform for scientist, academicians and clinicians to meet, interact and propagate the knowledge for solving the intricacies of nervous system and trying to find remedies for so far untreatable diseases related to brain and its appendages. The activities of academy in past 27 years have not only been educative but also helped neuroscientists to plan strategies for exploring areas for future research.

It is expected that about 500 delegates from various medical, dental, neurology, neurosurgery, neurosciences, biotechnology & pharmaceutical institutions of India and abroad, will attend this Conference. As it is going to be a highly educative affair, on behalf of the Indian Academy of Neurosciences we solicit an active participation of all.

Your active involvement will go a long way in making this national event a grand success.

It is my pleasure to invite you to Jaipur. A warm reception awaits you. I assure an academically beneficial and socially enriching experience during your stay.
