November 1 - 3, 2014
National Institute of Mental Health and Neuro Sciences
Bengaluru - 560 029, Karnataka, India

Translational Research : Novel Approaches to treat Neurological and Psychiatric disorders

Dear Colleagues,

It is our immense pleasure to invite you to National Institute of Mental Health and Neuro Sciences (NIMHANS), Bengaluru, India for the XXXII Annual Conference of Indian Academy of Neurosciences (IAN). During the conference, we aim to discuss the advances in translational research leading to novel treatment strategies to treat neurological and psychiatric disorders. Scientific programme includes plenary lectures, symposia, orations and young scientist colloquium. The scientific programme is planned to provide an opportunity for the neuroscientists to keep themselves abreast with the rapid progress being made in the exciting fields of neuroscience. In this regard, it is heartening that several leading scientists have consented to participate and deliver lectures during the conference.

Bengaluru is an enchanting city in which old world charm of its cultural heritage blends with the excitement of technological boom. The city is considered to be the National center of scientific information with technological, industrial and educational activities. We welcome you to the experience of science and knowledge City of Bengaluru and looking forward your active participation. We promise you to provide highly stimulating scientific programme.
